THE MISFITS GRAND GIVEAWAY!

Many of us have an inner misfit: a lonely, insecure, or out-of-place individual who we keep buried - isolating our truselves from our communities, families, friends, and sometimes even the Body of Christ and our God-ordained calling. We hide these segments of ourselves behind veils of success, wealth, charm, charisma, humor, and other fronts. This separation keeps us from reaching our potential; and finding the fulfillment in God’s unique plan for us. So, what can such banished playthings from the holiday movie Rudolph the Red-Nosed Reindeer like - The Charlie in the Box, the spotted elephant, the square-wheeled caboose, or squirt gun that only shoots jelly, teach us about ourselves? The answer is surprisingly simple, but life-changing. It empowers us to discover our untapped potential, to find our God-ordained calling, and to embrace our destiny.

Author Donna Howell picked up right where Charles left off in this thrilling sequel to “A Christmas Carol”! Seventeen years after the events of Dicken’s classic, we are left with unanswered questions such as what happens when people from all over London witness this change and hear that the motivation behind it was ghostly visitations? Whatever becomes of Tiny Tim? New mysteries unfold when Ebenezer must face the challenges of being daily rejected as a lunatic or revered as a spiritual leader. Tiny Tim - not so tiny anymore - fears he is being watched by someone or something, and a familiar looking young boy wanders into Mr. Scrooge’s office…

YOU ALSO WILL RECEIVE THESE INCREDIBLE BONUS ITEMS:

Christmas Classics contains a compilation of nine full books, fourteen stories in all. These classic narratives will light your heart and inspire you this holiday season. Titles included are: A Christmas Carol, Babouscka, The Shepherd’s Story, The Shepherd Who Didn’t Go, The Gift of the Magi, The Other Wise Man, The First New England Christmas, Why the Chimes Rang, and selected other short Christmas Stories!

What Are Aliens? Angels... Or Demons?!
With Our Government Confirming UFOs, What’s Next?

The Great Delusion Is Here And Many Will Be Deceived!

The Great Delusion: The Second Coming Of Earth’s Oldest Enemy. From Josh Peck, the visionary mind behind the multiple award winning film Silent Cry: The Darker Side of Trafficking, now comes the explosive documentary film concerning the rich history of the extraterrestrial question, where the Official Disclosure Movement is today, and what is coming our way in the next several years. Be prepared to have your paradigm radically shifted after viewing:

- Why the Vatican is in possession of a telescope named L.U.C.I.F.E.R.
- How the Fatima Apparition is connected with UFO sightings
- Why the ancient and mysterious Anasazi suddenly disappeared from the historic record
- How alien abductions might be connected with chapter 6 of the Book of Genesis
- What mankind’s history is with UFOs
- Why we are now starting to see official disclosure
- If there is a secret alien/human hybridization program being conducted right now
- If there is a connection between aliens and supernatural entities such as demons and fallen angels
- The amazing biblical prophecies that may point to an approaching UFO/UAP invasion
- What we can do to prepare for what's ahead

With Vatican officials confessing to know of interactions between high-ranking government officials and our “alien brothers,” the general public is being conditioned not only to accept aliens as the more advanced and knowledgeable of Jesus’ “other sheep.” Are we likewise also being conditioned to accept the arrival of an ancient evil reborn in human flesh... the “Star God?” Could it be that this star “god” is not fully a god but instead a human inhabited by the spirit of the fallen Lucifer himself? Or will he be the ultimate transhumanist’s dream, part human, part deity, just like the genetic hybrid Nephilim of old? Look into these issues, and more, with the Rome and the Star God DVD!

In the information packed Astrobiology DVD presentation, the late author Cris Putnam unpacks the assumptions of astrobiology and the Vatican’s uncanny interest in extra-terrestrial life. Since 1992 four Jesuit astronomers have expressed a desire to baptize ETs into the Catholic church. In May, 2014 Pope Francis shocked the world by following suit remarking that even ETs might ask to be baptized. Is this all just tongue in cheek or do they know something we don’t? In light of two Vatican sponsored astrobiology conferences (2009-2014) many suspect they do. Learn what the media isn’t telling you about UFOs and the Vatican’s Plan for ET disclosure.

THE GREAT DELUSION SPECIAL OFFER!
For over a decade, the SkyWatch Team (SkyWatchTV, SkyWatch Films, & Defender Publishing) has been carefully and quietly collecting private research into the UFO/UAP and alien abduction phenomena. Finally, these findings are being revealed on DVD in The Great Delusion: The Second Coming Of Earth’s Oldest Enemy. From Josh Peck, the visionary mind behind the multiple award winning film Silent Cry: The Darker Side of Trafficking, now comes the explosive documentary film concerning the rich history of the extraterrestrial question, where the Official Disclosure Movement is today, and what is coming our way in the next several years. Before and after the presidency of Donald Trump, the United States was—and now is again—on an intentional trajectory to fulfill what famous Freemason Manly P. Hall described as The Secret Destiny of America, which includes future national and global subservience to the god of Freemasonry, a deity most Americans would not imagine when reciting the Pledge of Allegiance to “one nation under God.” In fact, the idea by some that the United States was established as a monotheistic “Christian” nation by those who designed Washington DC, and that the “God” referred to on American currency is a Judeo-Christian one, is a puzzling conclusion when reflected against the deistic beliefs of so many of the Founding Fathers (as perpetually viewed in the “Supreme Architect” deism of Freemasons and in the “Supreme Judge of the World” and “Divine Providence” notations in the Declaration of Independence) and the countless pagan icons that dominate the symbols, statues, buildings, and seals carefully drafted under official government auspices. The Great Seal of the United States, which Hall rightly called “the signature” of that exalted body of Masons who designed America for a “peculiar and particular purpose,” bears rich symbolism forecasting anything but Christianity. In fact, when Christians in the 1800s argued that a hypothetical annihilation of the US would lead to “antiquaries of succeeding centuries” concluding that America had been a heathen nation based on symbolism of the Great Seal, Congress was pushed to create something reflecting the Christian faith of so many of its citizens. US President and Freemason Theodore Roosevelt strongly opposed this idea, while other Masons weren’t as frustrated with the plan because, given the ambivalence of the term “God” and the axiom that, interpreted within the context of the Great Seal symbolism, this certainly would not infer the biblical Christian God, the slogan, “In God We Trust,” (whomever you believe “God” is) was accommodated by Masons and other illuminatus and so was approved as the official US motto.

In my new book Zeitgeist 2025, to illustrate the point that one definitely would not determine the “God” in America’s official motto refers to the Father of Jesus Christ or a biblical Trinity, I wrote:

Imagine yourself as a space traveler who visits earth in a fictional, post-apocalyptic world. Digging through the rubble of the once-thriving planet, you come across a copy of a U.S. one-dollar bill with the two-sided Great Seal of the United States joined in the middle by the phrase, “IN GOD WE TRUST.”

Upon consideration, you ask yourself, “What god did this refer to?” With no preconceptions, you allow the symbolism on the seal to speak for itself, from which you quickly determine that this had been a great culture who worshipped Egyptian and Greek deities, especially a particular solar one whose all-seeing eye glared from atop an unfinished Egyptian pyramid. Upon further investigation into the specific beliefs of the strange group whose members had influenced the Great Seal, you discover from their highest masters, including one
THE SECRET DESTINY OF AMERICA DVD!

This 2-hour documentary “The Secret Destiny of America” on DVD, features Dr. Thomas Horn as he reveals who the “God” on America’s Great Seal and US one dollar bill really is, why 72 pentagrams in the Capitol Dome are used to control the ancient kosmokrators who rule the nations, the Coming Incarnation of Antichrist, AND MUCH MUCH MORE!

of Jesus, a “counter-Jesus.” This Apollo comes to rule the final New World Order, when “Justice returns, returns old Saturn’s [Satan/Lucifer as the god of the air] reign.” The ancient goddess Justice, who returns Satan’s reign (Saturnia regna, the pagan Golden Age), was known to the Egyptians as Ma’at and to the Greeks as Themis, while to the Romans she was Lusitia. Statues and reliefs of her adorn thousands of government buildings and courts around the world, especially in Washington, DC, as familiar Lady Justice, blindfolded and holding scales and a sword. She represents the enforcement of secular law and is, according to the Sibyl’s conjure, the authority that is going to require global compliance to the zenith of Satan’s dominion concurrent with the coming of Apollo. What’s more, the Bible’s accuracy concerning this subject is alarming, including the idea that “pagan justice” will require surrender to a satanic system in a final world order under the rule of Jupiter’s son.

In the New Testament, the identity of the god Apollo, repeat-coded in the Great Seal of the United States as the Masonic “messiah” who returns to rule the earth, is the same spirit—verified by the same name—that will inhabit the political leader of the end-times New World Order. According to key Bible prophecies, the Antichrist will be the progeny or incarnation of the ancient spirit, Apollo. Second Thessalonians 2:3 warns:

Let no man deceive you by any means: for that day shall not come, except there come a falling away first, and that man of sin be revealed, the son of perdition [Apoleia; Apollo]. (Emphasis added)

Revelation 17:8 likewise ties the coming of Antichrist with Apollo, revealing that the Beast shall ascend from the bottomless pit and enter him:

The Beast that thou sawest was, and is not; and shall ascend out of the Bottomless Pit, and go into perdition [Apollia, Apollo]: and they that dwell on the Earth shall wonder, whose names were not written in the Book of Life from the foundation of the world, when they behold the Beast that was, and is not, and yet is. (Emphasis added)

Among other things, this means the Great Seal of the United States is a prophecy, hidden in plain sight by the Founding Fathers for more than two hundred years, foretelling the return of a terrifying demonic god who seizes control of earth in the new order of the ages. This supernatural entity was known and feared in ancient times by different names: Apollo, Osiris, and even farther back as Nimrod, whom Masons consider to be the father of their institution.

Later in this special series, we will circle back to this prophecy to expose the most insidious aspects of the scheme counting down to the year 2025.

Have you heard intriguing things about the Dead Sea Scrolls before, maybe some details about their content and origin, or perhaps something about a group called “The Essenes?” Enjoy this amazing opportunity to pursue deeper meaning to these fascinating topics (and much more) with authors Josh Peck and Dr. Ken Johnson!

Who could have known how much influence the writings of a mysterious group of prophets and scribes hundreds of years before Christ would have on our understanding of end times prophecy? In The Lost Prophecies Of Qumran: 2025 And The Final Age Of Man, Josh Peck brings understanding to how much of what we’ve been taught about First Century Israel is incomplete. There were, in fact, Jewish believers who knew exactly what to expect in the coming Messiah: that He would be God in the flesh and would die for our sins. If they accurately predicted the first arrival of Jesus, what did they say about His soon return?

Once you learn about the Essenes and the Dead Sea Scrolls they left behind, you will understand the entirety of the Bible in a brand new light. Finally, the prophetic texts of Scripture can be understood as originally intended. Discover what God is revealing in these final years of our current age and what is ahead in the next age, soon to come!

The Ancient Mysteries Of The Essenes: The Ken Johnson Collection is a 3-part assembly of groundbreaking research by Dr. Ken Johnson, Th.D., involving the ancient Essene community, their astonishingly accurate prophecies, and what they foretell for our immediate future, conveniently combined into one complete book!

In Part 1: The Ancient Dead Sea Scroll Calendar and the Prophecies it Reveals, you will discover the secrets of the mysterious 364-day calendar used by the ancients since the time of Creation and how it has been hidden until now for the appointed time!

In Part 2: Ancient Testaments of the Patriarchs: Autobiographies from the Dead Sea Scrolls you will hear the previously hidden prophetic texts of such patriarchs as Enos (grandson of Adam), Lamech (father of Noah), Amram (father of Moses and Aaron) and even Enoch from The Book of Enoch fame!

In Part 3: The Ancient Order of Melchizedek you will learn astonishing facts about the enigmatic priest Melchizedek such as why his priesthood was and is different than that of Levi, why the Messiah was ordained after the Order of Melchizedek, and how the facts surrounding this mysterious order dynamically effects the theology and practical applications of our Christian walks today!

THE DARK COVENANT SPECIAL OFFER!

Are recent challenges and hardships (global pandemic, quarantines, riots, economic strains) all components within a larger, satanic plot? If so, surely the Church will identify this malevolence and intervene on behalf of humanity, right? Somebody will certainly do something about it, won’t they?

Amidst the calculated progression of media entertainment, the controlled public narratives, and highly manipulated worldviews, our resultantly polarized and divided society is being groomed to embrace the unthinkable in preparation for the Mark of the Beast. Learn how much of the Church has been lulled to sleep and has become unable to effectively respond, and even more shockingly, how Western Christianity has even become A CULT.

Learn how, despite being slowly positioned to be considered a public enemy, and with the possibly soon-prohibited Bible itself labeled as hate speech, that the Body of Christ can (and will!) survive the modern assault on Christianity, and what true believers can actually do about it!

In addition to the eye-opening book, Dark Covenant, we’ve also included these valuable items:

Join Donna Howell, Allie Henson, and the SkyWatch Investigative team for this original 4-Part series on DVD, the Dark Covenant Companion DVD! This eye-opening exposé is already sending shockwaves through the western religious establishment and is certain to help ready the true remnant of God with the tools needed to navigate the coming days of persecution!

In this exclusive, never before released Occultianity DVD, Donna Howell and Allie Henson walk you step by step through the well-laid plans of an occult oligarchy who are, as we speak, advancing the way for the system of antichrist, all while a silent, complacent church has forgotten the true power of the Body of Christ and are inadvertently laying the foundation for the bloodiest cult the world has ever seen! THIS DVD ALONE IS A LAST-DAY’S WARNING THAT ALL TRUE BELIEVERS MUST HAVE THAT WILL EQUIP GOD’S ANOINTED WITH THE KNOWLEDGE & POWER THEY NEED TO SET PEOPLE FREE FROM POWERS OF DECEPTION!

— Sold separately, this eye-opening collection would retail for more than $75.00! —

For the past few weeks, I have known this article deadline was creeping up on me, and yet, in this line of work, not every moment in life is this big, beautiful, inspired thing. People on the outside at times make grand assumptions about folks in media—that we stand around drinking expensive coffees, telling our personal assistants to file paperwork for us while we flip through Better Home and Garden magazines in waiting for another expensive steak dinner, after which we lazily saunter out into a flowery field somewhere and let the Holy Spirit (oh, and a gentle breeze; you gotta get the breeze in there) arouse from within us a new vision for the future of Christian television.

Yea h…no.

That’s not real. I know that’s what TV shows portray, but nothing could be further from the truth. Yet something tells me you already know that.

I am a mother. I don’t have a nanny to help me raise my kids, or a babysitter on call for whenever I want “me time.” Nor do I have anyone on call to tutor my children through a rough math season or to run my kids to their sporting events and extracurricular activities in the evenings. I’m a lifetime away from having any personal assistant even so much as sharpen a pencil for me. I might be the host of a television show, and a co-host of another, but I don’t sit around creatively planning episodes when the cameras are cold… Much to the contrary, as the year-round chief manager of our SkyWatch TV store shipping warehouse and part-time foodservice director during our camping seasons for Whispering Ponies Ranch, it’s actually a miracle I have any time (or mental wherewithal) left to report to the studio for another bright-eyed, bushy-tailed recording session.

Sound familiar? It should. Of course the circumstances are different, but it likely reads with the same rhythm of your story, too, doesn’t it? The thoughts trail on:

Note to self: Can’t rest on Saturday, because we have that barbeque, then a fundraiser we gotta be at, and the lawn needs to be mowed at some point before sundown. Sunday morning we have church, then we hafta grab that one thing the way out the door for that other thing we stupidly scheduled for Sunday evening. Uhhh, need to slam dunk that Monday-morning meeting and have it wrapped up in time for the next one the same afternoon with the other department heads. That will last until it’s time to pick up kids. Gotta choke down dinner and try to make it a healthy one with only a half hour on the docket before we all need to be at basketball practice.

Oh yeah… Note to self, again: Don’t forget to cheer at basketball practice—even though there’s a gajillion things in the back of the brain competing for attention. Then, get home, get kids to bed, try not to fall into a state of irreversible comatose until the spouse has been given a token five minutes of conversation and a kiss on the cheek. Okay, now Tuesday…

You know the drill…

Now, of course, I am undeniably blessed and feel surrounded by others who work just as hard as I do, and with just as much dedication. But, needless to say, when I was asked to write... an annual article for the Simply HIS column of SkyWatch TV Magazine, I knew there would be days like today, when I'm already hands-full juggling and don't necessarily know which topic from my life would most reach the reading audience. For a few weeks now, I have been back-burnering this article and asking others around me what they would want to see me write about. Over and over, I got the same response. Upon my last attempt, after I once again heard the same answer, I laughed.

“Everyone keeps telling me that!” I said.

“You know what that means, right?” she responded wisely.

I nodded reluctantly. “Confirmation?”

I struggle sometimes knowing what I would have to say to an audience as large and diverse as ours, but I also know that the Lord has uniquely positioned me to be a spokesperson of countless others who feel just like I do on a daily basis. So often around here, we have guest panelists who are famous scholars or theologians, and even though their work is absolutely crucial to the Lord’s mission, members of our audience don’t always relate to them in the same way they would to me. Am I surprised to receive confirmation that I should simply write from the heart about everyday life and parenthood? Not really, because when the rubber meets the road—after fascinating details about the Nephilim of Genesis 6:4, news about what the Vatican is up to, updates on the social and political climates of our nation, discussions regarding what the Bible might say about supernaturalism or the paranormal, and whistleblowing sensational cover-ups relating to ancient burial grounds on U.S. soil—we all have one thing in common: the demands of everyday life.

For me, my greatest demands are related to motherhood, because that’s an “around the clock,” full-time job that a person can’t take a day off from. At times, the line between my job and parenting my kids is so blurred that a person can’t discern where one stops and the other begins. Even as I write this article, I am at my second daughter’s volleyball tournaments. (Go figure, right?) She’s the one that gets involved in everything, and she’s extremely good at most things she applies herself to. She is my natural athlete: Whether it be sports, dance, gymnastics, or some other form of physical expression or competition, she picks it up super-fast and excels. And though I’m proud of the force-to-be-reckoned-with child I’m raising, it sometimes means I have to cheer for the girl behind the net and write articles at the same time. (Hahaha!)

My oldest daughter is equal in talent, but her interests are in animals and music. She takes after her daddy in her ability to capture a listening audience and render them to tears with her voice and piano skills (which have been self-taught to a substantial degree). Most people who hear her, including myself, admit that they could listen to her play and sing all day. (Thankfully, she also helps me out quite a bit with younger siblings and domestic needs around the house!)

My youngest two might still be settling into their skin and working out who they’re going to be when they get older, but both of them on a mellow day can hold their own with those personalities and give the rest of us a run for our money, for sure.

The only problem I have in parenting is that I appear to have misplaced the manual. You know the one I mean, right? That book that tells us how to be a wife, a full-time career woman, and a mother, all at once, while also detailing exactly what this little individual we’ve just birthed is going to enjoy, do, and aspire to become…? Wait…you mean you didn’t get that manual?

Sarcasm aside, wouldn’t that be handy? (You’re lying if you say no…)
But parenting, and life itself, simply doesn’t have a manual. Kids are individuals. We cannot discipline, or communicate with, all of them in the same way. Each child is unique, and that goes for every parent as well. This is the (beautifully diverse but quite challenging) system of humanity that God has designed. Choosing to bring the little ones into the world while I have other responsibilities on my plate, and then ensuring that they receive the love and support they need to grow up with stability and faith, is always going to be a hard job! It’s not for the faint of heart, or the half-committed! I think one of the hardest parts about it all is not knowing if I am doing the right thing for everyone involved, then coming to believe I’ve identified the right thing, and then second guessing myself… And there are always those questions you just can’t answer: Am I pushing them too hard? Am I not pushing hard enough? Am I always there for them whenever they need me? Will I even know if they need me if they choose not to tell me so that day? And can I keep up with work while I figure it all out?! AHHHHH!

Many of us parents (whether you be male or female) struggle with these moments all the time. You’re not alone (and neither am I, thank God!). But in the midst of “all the stuff and things of life,” as us girls on the Simply HIS panel would say, do you remember yourself at all? Are you, yourself, a priority of yours to any healthy degree?

(Listen, there is a difference between selfishness and self-care. At the opposite extreme end, ignoring the offspring we’ve brought into the world while we spend their milk money on our addictions or lavish indulgences is pure selfishness, and parents who make these choices will absolutely answer to God. However, at least for today, that is not the audience I am addressing. I’m talking to you beautiful people who consistently manage your household and your children very well…and consistently place yourself last.)

Do you so often put everyone else’s priorities above your own? Do you punish yourself and feel guilty when you recognize that you also have needs? Or worse, do you tell folks around you all the time that they need to prioritize self-care on their end and then ignore your own advice? Geez, I know that I sure do… I am still learning—four kids and three careers later—how important it is to take time for myself. But it is a process, and there’s a learning curve involved. We have to actually slow down once in a while and, as corny as it sounds, pep-talk ourselves into caring for ourselves.

Meanwhile, as you learn, don’t let anyone else bully you into thinking that “self-care” only appears one way. Using our own panelists for example: For Donna Howell, it’s college studies at night or a gripping fiction novel. (That woman would sooner run over a nail than to have to fuss over makeup, hair, nails, or fashion!) Nita, on the other hand, wants to take a relaxing stroll out to the ponies on her ranch and dream about the future of our ministries, without being pulled into work or needed for anything. Allie understands the importance of a nightly unwinding routine to bring the research-brain down into a resting state and isn’t afraid to let others know when she’s approaching that hour—good for her! And as for me, have you seen my purple hair and freshly manicured nails?

There is a viral meme going around the Internet right now sparking some discussion about what a “break” for a mama looks like. The author passionately and articulately demands that there needs to be a new norm for moms. The world needs to stop thinking that housecleaning without kids in the way or a standard shower without interruption is what we should consider a break, this woman says, and she’s right! These are everyday responsibilities, and it’s demeaning (and demoralizing) to expect busy mothers—who, by the way, often work as many hours as a man these days and are still expected to perform the womanly domestic duties of past generations—to consider a shower or housecleaning as “the grand spoiling” they’ve earned by rocking their motherly role. The same is true for a man, any day of the week! Self-care doesn’t mean you brush your teeth without ten toddlers pulling on your pajama pants. It means you break AWAY from the world once in a while and take time to do something that rejuvenates you.

And then, guess what… You end up being a better parent and career person, which benefits your whole family, and your boss, and your coworkers. See? Everyone wins, because you cared about yourself.

Don’t be like I’ve been in the past. Don’t think that a shower by yourself in the back room of the house is all the break you need. It will make you cranky, as it has for me. You must afford yourself grace! Just as you would give grace to someone else. As fellow parents, we need to be there for each other and hold each other up! It truly does take a village to raise kids and a family…and to hold down a job! As you read this, you know it’s true, but if you’re like me, you’ve denied yourself the very support you’ve selflessly given to others for years!

Also, if you’re alone, don’t stay that way. If you do not have a “tribe” that can help you navigate the pressures of life, then get out there and find people that you can rely on. Let someone know you need help, and you need a break. Choosing people that have your back and can help you navigate those tough times is a huge asset!

In closing…. It’s okay to not be Supermom (or Superdad)! You don’t have to be perfect. One of the most important gifts you can give to your kids is to show them how to love themselves! Lead by example! As much as you pour into your kids, pour into yourself!

The Book of Enoch is one of the most influential and historically relevant books in history! Dr. Michael Heiser’s continued scholarly pursuit, and ability to uniquely share his discoveries in a meaningful way, brings comprehension to the book’s content with greater insight and clarity than ever before. In this updated special collection we have included the following well-rounded selection:

- A Companion to the Book of Enoch: A Reader’s Commentary, Volume II:
  The Parables of Enoch (1 Enoch 37-71)

- A Companion to the Book of Enoch: A Reader’s Commentary, Volume 1:
  The Book of the Watchers (1 Enoch 1-36)

The Book of Enoch (more properly 1 Enoch, distinguished from the later composed 2 Enoch and 3 Enoch) was read and revered across the spectrum of Second Temple Judaism. Even though 1 Enoch was and is not considered canonical Scripture, the book had a very wide readership, including the authors of New Testament books in which its content can be found in a number of passages. Based on the translation of 1 Enoch by R. H. Charles (1917,) this “reader’s commentary” will help students of the Bible to better understand and more fully appreciate this important and influential ancient book.

Plus! You’ll also receive on DVD The Book of Enoch, Fallen Angels & Ancient Aliens! An exclusive production with Dr. Michael Heiser regarding the blatant lies of ancient astronaut theory and the horrifying nature of fallen angels and alien abduction!

But that’s not all!
You’ll also receive the beautifully printed, hardback edition of the original, historical Book of Enoch from Defender Publishing! Perfect for assisting serious researchers and students in the study of the Bible and the early age!

Yours now for a donation of only $35.00 plus S/H!
Before and after the presidency of Donald Trump, the United States was—and now is again—on AN INTENTIONAL TRAJECTORY to fulfill what famous Freemason Manly P. Hall described as The Secret Destiny of America. Hall’s book includes future national and global subservience to the god of Freemasonry, a deity most Americans would not imagine when reciting the pledge of allegiance to “one nation under God.”

Unknown to most Americans and certainly many Christians is the fact that the Great Seal of the United States is a prophecy hidden in plain sight by the Founding Fathers for more than two hundred years, foretelling the return of this terrifying, demonic god who seizes control of Earth in the New Order of the Ages. This supernatural entity was known and feared in ancient times by different names: Apollo, Osiris, and even farther back as Nimrod, whom Masons consider to be the father of their institution. Does ancient prophecy indicate he will return in 2025?

THE BIGGEST GIVEAWAY OF THE SUMMER also includes:

- The Zeitgeist 2025 Companion DVD, a 6-part, eye-opening exposé on DVD reveals the malevolent, Orwellian trinity converging around the world, seeking to homogenize the freedom to speak and think, in order to create nations of assimilated devotees who will embrace Antichrist!
- The 2-hour documentary The Secret Destiny of America on DVD, featuring Dr. Thomas Horn as he reveals who the “God” on America’s Great Seal and US one dollar bill really is, why 72 pentagrams in the Capitol Dome are used to control the ancient kosmokrators who rule the nations, the Coming Incarnation of Antichrist AND MUCH MUCH MORE!
- The ground-breaking Belly of the Beast documentary on DVD, where you will discover: Why a Bible is BOUND in a magic square INSIDE the testes of the Washington Monument… Where and why a buried ANCIENT MAGICAL OBELISK AWAITS UNDERGROUND nearby… Where the ENTRANCE to a Secret Crypt exists connected to American LUCIFER WORSHIP from within the Deep State… And, you will learn the US government-owned location where the Antichrist will be resurrected on American soil!
- The RISE 2021 DEFENDER VIRTUAL CONFERENCE DVD BOX SET is jam-packed with over 26 hours of mind boggling revelations from world-renown Bible teachers, archaeologists, and ancient language scholars on the prophetic events unfolding all around the world right now! Featuring unforgettable presentations from Dr. Thomas Horn, Dr. Judd Burton, Bishop Ron Webb, Dr. Aaron Judkins, Jimmy Evans, Pastor Mark Blitz, Col. Back in 2008, Donna Howell wrote Ebenezer: The Final Years of Scrooge, a fiction novel with a biblical worldview that imagined the days of Ebenezer Scrooge’s life picking up where the Dickens’ classic left off. The book was met with instant and phenomenal success, having achieved a larger national preorder demand from our distributors than almost any other product in our company’s history at that time. At the Books-A-Million book-signing event in Branson, Missouri, celebrities—such as the globally recognized televangelist Joel Osteen and the world-famous comedian Jim Stafford—stood in line for a copy signed by Howell…and even before the scheduled event drew to a close, the store ran out of stock on the title, closing the signing down early (an extremely rare outcome for a book-signing in the industry at that time).

But shortly after its release, author Howell believed God was redirecting her to discontinue enrollment English writing classes at her university and transition toward a degree in theological/biblical studies to: 1) reach the lost with the Gospel, and 2) encourage believers to dig deeper into the Word. Right away, the work she began to produce shifted into Christian apologetics with an emphasis on church history and rich studies in scriptural contexts, ultimately leading up to the powerhouse-theology books and media compositions you have all grown to expect from her. As a result of this ministerial alteration, Howell allowed her first-ever book, Ebenezer: The Final Years of Scrooge, to fall out of print immediately, even while the titles sales and promotional endeavors were at an all-time high, as she felt convicted the novel might distract from her new direction.

Now, as a limited re-release—and only as it is carried in a bundle-promotional package with her latest title Misfits (which Nita Horn and I coauthored)—this Christmas classic literature masterpiece will be available to readers all across the nation once again during this holiday season, 2021. But folks, I warn you… This is likely your final chance to obtain a copy of this genius work before it goes back out of print forever (as is the current plan), and trust me when I say this: You are not going to want to miss out on getting to experience this book. It is truly one of a kind!

What’s the big draw? you ask?

The original A Christmas Carol Scrooge story by Charles Dickens captured a piece of that invisible, holiday-spirit magic that we all feel (but most of us can’t explain) when the weather gets nippy and the shopping centers switch their speakers to blow those uplifting, jingly-jangly songs about reindeer and snow. Dickens’ beloved characters—Ebenezer Scrooge; Jacob Marley; Bob Cratchet; Tiny Tim; the Ghosts of Christmas’ Past, Present, and Future; etc.—lovingly pop back into our thoughts countless times as we consider human nature, charity, love, and restoration of relationships throughout the Christmas season every year. And even though the story wasn’t not exclusively Christian in its original presentation, Ebenezer’s transition from the grumpy, hopeless miser to the humanitarian and spokesperson of goodwill and generosity has always historically reminded readers and TV-holiday-special-viewers of Christ-like concepts, like redemption and deliverance. It has been, and will continue to be, a witness of God’s grace, even if only indirectly.

However, with all that said, Dickens’ beautiful classic technically had a few plot-holes that the world has wished filled since that day. As Howell relates in the introduction to her Final Years of Scrooge continuation:

A Christmas Carol has been noted for at least thirty-one theater adaptations, two operas, twenty-one films, twelve radio productions, twenty-three television versions, and countless parodies, standing as one of the most remarkable and renowned stories in history. Yet still, with as much attention as the story has received, there are questions that remain unanswered:

—Who exactly were the Ghosts of Christmas Past, Present, and Future, and where did they come from?
—Why did the ghosts have an interest in helping a possibly condemned man?
—Is it at all realistic to assume that a miserable miser can face these visitors from the other world, change overnight, and then maintain that change?
—What happens when London’s richest and most dreaded name becomes the richest and most beloved name, resulting in overnight popularity and fame for a person who puts great value on his privacy and time alone?
—And one question that has received enormous reflection from the very beginning and today causes massive debate over the Internet: What was wrong with Tiny Tim?

These questions and many others are given a powerful conclusion by Howell, who, as you might have guessed, didn’t dare approach this story without plunging deeply into historical research regarding what the world around Scrooge would have been like at that time, and why the happy ending would have been short-lived. Who, while they’re nestled into their couch sipping eggnog, even thinks about the fact that Ebenezer saw “ghosts” near the same time in history as the witch trials that would have condemned a man to death for such an admission (or at least ruined his reputation and sparked public outrage)? Howell does, and that’s why her book brings realism to the story, making Scrooge’s following years far more believable and even grander in the ultimate climax that she imagines. Ebenezer must now “face the challenges of being daily rejected as a lunatic or revered as a spiritual leader,” the back of the book says.

As is also not surprising of Howell’s nature, she tackled this project biblically, placing an uncomplicated, but theologically sound, Christian spin on what it was Scrooge really saw that night so long ago in the private recesses of his bed. Was it truly “ghosts” that led Scrooge to redemption and reacquainted him with the charitable heart of his past? Or was there something more Divine at work in the life of this miserable miser? Again, from the cover, “Tiny Tim—not so tiny anymore—fears he is being watched by someone or something, and a familiar looking young boy wanders into Mr. Scrooge’s office…”

Lastly, though the past, present, and future tenses were crucial to Scrooge’s journey to kindness before, this time, it’s not enough. Howell remained true to the “what might have been, what could be” flavor of Dickens’ brainchild, but as she builds the plot around new and continuing mysteries, she takes the story to the only remaining dimension imaginable, where “Scrooge learns…the purpose he was truly designed by God to fulfil.”

Oh, and that “purpose” just mentioned? It’s not what you think…but I bet you can relate to it!

With all the original characters—and a few engaging, endearing, precious new ones!—Howell draws the reader back into that holiday-spirit feeling, brighter than ever before, bringing closure to the story that Dickens, himself, would applaud. I’m telling you. You do NOT want to miss your chance to get this limited, Christmas release. I give my highest recommendation!
Greetings! Fall has arrived, and we are rejoicing at the ranch! We had a wonderfully “normal” camping season hosting our kids’ camps as scheduled, and it was a fantastic time with young people running everywhere: engaging in archery, swimming, horse activities, climbing the rock wall, flying down the zip line…the whole works. It was awesome seeing life on the ranch again after missing activities in 2020!

As the seasons pass, I’ve had a very memorable thing on my mind that I want to share with you. It was during the first camp, and we had just started wrapping up a visit session with the horses in the arena when a junior counselor approached me and asked if she could speaking with me for a minute. Of course, I was happy to oblige. (A junior counselor must be fourteen years of age.) She began by telling me about a horse she owned, asking questions about training, and as the conversation played out, her words sounded very familiar to me as though I had heard them once before.

She must have seen the puzzled look on my face, because then she asked, “Do you remember me? I came to this camp a few years ago as a camper. I had so much fun.” Then her face brightened, and she proudly announced, “But, I’m old enough now and this year I’m here as a junior counselor. I’m so excited!”

Her announcement blew me away. I have had many kids tell me that they were planning to come back to be a counselor, and some have even said they want to come work for us at the ranch, but this was the first time it had actually come full circle—my first year to see the actual fruits of prior seeds that had been planted.

“Yes, I do remember you!” I said excitedly. “I’m so proud of you! And I’m so happy you did come back, just like you said!”

She beamed with delight as she continued to tell me she would never forget that first year, elaborating on how she plans to come back every year to help, and noted that someday she would be a senior counselor. No doubt the time she spent here at the ranch during that first week of camp held a life-changing experience for her, and I could now see it even helped to provide a positive direction for her future.

This is only one testimony of the impact one week of Royal Family Kids Camps, Whispering Ponies Ranch staff, and volunteers, can have on a life. Children arrive in many different frames of mind and affected by diverse worldviews born from experiences in the foster system. Some are very inverted and frightened, some are loud and unruly, some are even sadly disoriented… Yet, when it is time for them to return to where they came from, they almost always cry because they never want to leave this place of healing. They literally want to live here forever, but they leave with a skip in their step, a smile in their heart, and a positive attitude, the sadness of their departure balanced with the new lease on life that God, through this ministry and the connection with these horses, has lent them. Some, like this young lady standing before me and beaming, also leave with new direction for their future. They may have to return to the system, or to the state, or to the next temporary home, or to any level of harsh instability, but one beautiful, stable imprint of God’s love, affection, and plan for their life has been irrevocably stamped upon their hearts during their time here…and it never costed the recipients a dime. Precious moments such as these—investing in little ones and seeing that investment return tenfold—are made possible at no charge to the groups, because of donations received from generous supporters and Pony Sponsors of Whispering Ponies Ranch.

Let me take a minute to show you a few more examples.

At the end of each week, the kids are asked to participate in a quick note-writing activity, answering the heading: “Why I like Royal Family Kids Camp.” I thought it would be meaningful for you sponsors and donors to see some of the notes we received back. The following are from the 6–12-year age bracket (the ages are noted more specifically on some of them), and appear in this current form as raw and unedited as we received them:

My name is [name removed]. I went to RFKC this week.
My favorite thing to do was sing songs.
My favorite song was, “Jesus, You Are All I Need.”
The birthday Party was a lot of fun.
I really liked the face painting.
The bouncy house and slide were so much fun.
I went fishing and I caught 6 and 7 fish for a total of 13 fish, that’s a lot of fish! That was exciting!
I got to paint a horse named Gemma. I painted a rainbow and polka dots on Gemma.
I loved riding the pony.
My favorite cousins were Christy & Haley. They took care of me and made me feel real safe.

[“Cousins” are are titles often given to a child’s junior and senior counselors at the camp.]

DEAR GOD:

Blessings.
I am thankful I got to go to camp.
I got to meet all my new friends.
Thankful you made food.
I am thankful when its warm and when we have fun.
I am thankful for the Tea Party Heros.
I would love to have a dog.
I hope to get to come back next year and see my friends.

Thank you every one for being here for me. Ever since I have been here, I was sad but then you made me happy.

You gave me a large, loving family, and I learned more about God.

Camp makes you feel welcomed. The people make you feel loved. They teach you about Jesus. They are so kind. You swim, stay in cabins, and more. Royal Family Kids Camp is great!

It is the best camp ever. Ever since I started, I was sad, and now I’m not, because it has been the best week ever!

I like the awesome staff, food, zipline, & other campers, & the chance to come back one last time.

I like RFK, because of God and fun. [Age 11]

I fished for the first time & caught 3 fish. [Age 7]

I am so thankful that I was given the chance to come. I loved the activities that I got to do. My favorite thing was to go on the zipline.

I really liked camp. I liked swimming & driving Rebel, the pony. My favorite time was 30/30 time, because it was so quiet. [Age 7]

Thank you for paying to let me come to camp. I really enjoyed the food, zipline, & the awesome staff that makes this place GLOW. This was the best week ever. [Age 11]

Dear Everyone. Thank you for everything like paying for us to go to camp. Camp has been great, but it is my last year, because I am 11, but I will do TRAC.

The acronym “TRAC” in the end of this child’s note is a reference to “Teen Reach Adventure Camps,” another organization who continues mentoring once the child ages out of the Royal Family Kids Camps. We actually held our first two camps this year and I want to express how thrilled we are to have TRAC on board with us! I will be speaking more about this soon…

Meanwhile, I hope you’ve enjoyed these little notes as glimpses into the difference we’re making here. Please always remember these sweet children—as well as the ranch!—in your prayers. Thanks for everything you have all done to make this possible for all of us. I will end with one more note, written by one of our Savior’s eleven-year-old children, the message and tone of which says it all:

I’m so happy that I made new friends, & I didn’t know there were other foster kids here. We are all the same & no matter what, it will all be okay.

No doubt, with your help, we are giving these at-risk kids HOPE.

Until next time,
In Christ, and for the kids,
Nita

“Whosoever shall receive one of such children in my name, receiveth me: and whosoever shall receive me, receiveth not me, but him that sent me” (Mark 9:37).
Giants are real. The small-g “gods” of the pagans are real. Dragons are also real, and their ultimate goal is to kill you!

Giants, Gods, & Dragons is a fresh look at the end of days, drawing on the worldview of the prophets and apostles, who understood that the spirit realm was far more real than we in the modern world believe or have even been challenged to realistically learn about.

Sharon and Derek Gilbert connect the dots between scripture, archaeology, and Bible prophecy to expose the enemy in the imminent, end-times showdown between the fallen realm and the Kingdom of God.

You’ll also receive an impressive selection of bonus material containing hours of opportunity to further pursue this fascinating subject:

- Unmasking the Ancient Gods - DVD Set: Derek and Sharon pull back the veil that’s hidden the true faces of the supernatural enemies of God for millennia. Featuring six cutting-edge presentations recorder at the 2017 Blessed Hope Prophecy Conference in Norman, Oklahoma
- The Four Horsemen - DVD: The Four Horsemen of the Apocalypse are real entities, not just symbols of conquest, war, famine, and death. The hosts of SkyWatch TV’s Unraveling Revelation take you deep inside Bible prophecy to show you who these beings are and when they began their ride
- Wars of the Gods Volume One: Search for the Titans - DVD: Discover the evidence with Derek and Sharon as they tour Israel, Jordan, and the mysterious megalithic towers of Sardinia with special guests
- Wars of the Gods Volume Two: Search for the Rephaim - DVD: Join Derek and Sharon’s guided tour of the Holy Land ground zero in the long war with the fallen realm
- This is War - DVD Set: Derek Gilbert teaches on the long spiritual war from Eden to Armageddon. Six presentations recorded in September 2019, at the Look, He is Coming With the Clouds Prophecy Conference at Crosspointe Church in Sanger, California
- The Battle Against Giants, Gods, & Dragons - DVD: Spiritual warfare for the end times. Derek and Sharon Gilbert present more than four hours of biblical teaching on spiritual warfare and the enemy we face in the last days—the giants, gods, and dragons who are preparing for the final battle of the ages, Armageddon

THE GIVE ME LIBERTY PATRIOT PACKAGE

Give Me Liberty, Not Marxism is the latest book by one of the most timely, relevant, and truly “in the know” authors, LTC. Robert L. Maginnis. Examine within what current American leaders like President Joe Biden and his globalist allies intend for America and the world, an outcome that may well usher in the prophetic end times. The evidence for this possible result comes from an objective review of the histories of past Marxist regimes, accounts that are juxtaposed with the contemporary political proposals by those who seek a global “Great Reset” that could produce a radically different America which becomes subordinate to a godless, totalitarian one-world government ruled by the Chinese Communist Party.

In Progressive Evil, also by LTC Robert L. Maginnis, you will see revealed how Western humanity as we know it is on a downward spiral due to an ideology that deceives and disarms the malleable, unsuspecting masses. You will read how the progressives’ assault on America is exchanging foundational Godliness for false promises by setting upon compromising constitutional rights, the destruction of key institutions, and the destruction of American exceptionalism by redefining our cultural ideals.

As a bonus, we are including Shadowland by Thomas R. Horn, where you will discover terrifying realities behind today’s polarizing culture war and the energies operating behind the contest for dominance over values, beliefs, and religious paradigms. You will find illuminated the occult practices and enthroned “Egregores” over a mysterious shadow empire, as well as diabolical “body count” lists, deals with the Devil, bizarre Antichrist summoning efforts, and whether some in “Christianity” have joined Luciferian objectives.

In addition, this 3-volume collection includes the original 5 part SkyWatch television SHADOWLAND investigative series on DVD, absolutely free! Moreover, this incredible series contains the never before released on DVD, World Exclusive, behind the scenes interview regarding perhaps THE BIGGEST scandal and cover up in US history, so HOT we’re unable to discuss the specific contents on network television involving a two-hour investigative interview with new forensic information connected to the Robert Mueller Report that may soon send shockwaves through Washington DC and around the world!

Christians have been called to fast repeatedly in the Bible, and for good reason. Fasting is an ancient tool—and now science has helped reveal some of its amazing benefits. Let’s take a look at some of the critical facts that were unveiled during the research phase of the book Joe Horn and I authored together, Unlocking Eden:

The catastrophic impact of eating around the clock—as so many of us do—is cause for alarm, but there may be comfort for the reader in knowing that this problem has a very simple solution: intermittent fasting. Now, before you’re swept into the fear of the unknown, or the simpler but real terror of having to go hungry, hear us out. We’ve already hinted at intermittent fasting, but we’ll elaborate here. While some extremists may boast of their ability to fast for days on end, adding this practice to your everyday life can take on a much easier application. And, while some small sacrifice is still involved, the health benefits are literally immeasurable.

As a society, our eating habits have morphed over the decades. Whereas we used to eat three regular meals a day, we’ve added to this traditional eating style the model of snacking between every meal. In addition, the continual invasion of technology into our lives has resulted in a majority of people staying up much later in the evening hours than previous generations. These late-night indulgences are often accompanied with more munching. The result of this is that, by and large, we eat almost around the clock, and this is a workload our digestive organs were never designed for. As already explained, continual intake keeps a person’s body in the “fat storage” mode, but in addition, it overworks the gut, liver, and pancreas, which causes them to eventually wear out and even malfunction prematurely. (Imagine owning a car, but instead of turning it off when it’s parked, you always leave the vehicle idling, allowing no rest period. Eating around the clock places extra “miles” on vital tissues for no important purpose, and bring no fruitful yield in return.) Further, as stated, this nonstop influx greatly contributes to diabetes, impedes weight loss, and even impacts sleep. However, intermittent fasting can help reverse many of these cycles and set the body’s systems back into harmony. When we’re fasting, we spend more hours at a time in an uninterrupted, fat-burning state. Insulin levels decrease, causing the body to turn to stored fat for energy, which actually speeds up the ability to lose weight while giving such organs as the gut, liver, and pancreas time to rejuvenate between jobs, restoring efficacy to the entire metabolic function. Human growth hormone increases, which causes lean muscle to form, in turn promoting healthy caloric expulsion. Beyond this, the physiological changes that take place during a fast improve cognitive function and help reduce chances of such illnesses as cancer, blood pressure issues, and even ailments such as Alzheimer’s and Parkinson’s diseases.¹

Having already mentioned mitochondrial biogenesis, we won’t dwell on the subject here other than to recall the fact that intermittent fasting is one of the ways to initiate this cellular healing process.

The circadian clock and the timing of food intake directly impact the effectiveness of our metabolism and immune system and affect our inclination toward chronic illness, our cognitive function, and even our neurological health. As mentioned in the previous chapter, what we choose to engage in for the sake of our health can actually alter the condition of our cells and even change our genome. To learn more about this phenomenon, researchers came together from the University of California, the Baylor College of Medicine in Houston, Texas, and the Telethon Institute of Genetics and Medicine in Naples, Italy, to study the impact of feeding-pattern alteration on the genetic expression of mice. They found that intermittent fasting caused gene expression to incline toward prevention of aging, illness, and disease. The study revealed that “the reorganization of gene regulation by fasting could prime the genome to…anticipate upcoming food intake and thereby drive a new rhythmic cycle of gene expression… Therefore, optimal [intermittent] fasting… [could] positively affect cellular functions and…[benefit] health and…[prevent] aging-associated diseases.”2 (We’ll discuss how this is scientifically possible in the upcoming pages.)

Furthermore, the New England Journal of Medicine released an article in 2019, written by doctors Raphael de Cabo and Mark P. Patterson, which looked into the matter as well. The piece asserted that intermittent fasting initiates “adaptive cellular responses that are integrated between and within organs in a manner that improves glucose regulation, increases stress resistance, and suppresses inflammation.”3 Further, they stated that “preclinical studies show the robust disease-modifying efficacy…on a wide range of chronic disorders, including obesity, diabetes, cardiovascular disease, cancers, and neurodegenerative brain diseases.”4 Other benefits were included in the report as well. Cellular fortitude in healthy cells was reinforced, creating better resistance to diseases such as cancer. Cognitive function saw improvements as it pertains to spatial, associative, and working memory, illustrating that fasting can be beneficial even to those who don’t believe they are struggling with chronic illness. Harmony between organs’ functions was restored, causing overall systemic efficacy to improve.5

AUTOPHAGY

At this point, you may be wondering how it is possible that so many benefits can come from taking in minimal nutrients. The notion seems counterintuitive; after all, we haven’t always believed that eating nutritious food will arm our bodies to fight illness? How is it, then, that nutrient deprivation can drive our bodies toward myriad healthy, rejuvenating processes?

When we don’t eat for a period of time, the lack of food initiates a process called autophagy. The word, literally meaning “self-eating,” describes the survival mechanism by which the body begins to forage within itself for dead cells that it can consume as an alternative to incoming nutrition. This is the physiological response to the realization that food has been restricted. The system shifts into a type of survival mode, increasing efficiency by scavenging throughout its own system in search for material that can be eaten, reabsorbed, and recreated into new energy.2 The best part of this process is that as it seeks out old or damaged cells and recycles them, the body likewise releases newer, healthier cells to replace them. Because this response is activated by self-scavenging, it prioritizes the weakest, most damaged, or degenerate cells.

A similar way to look at this process is if you were to suddenly be required to downsize your wardrobe, and were told that there is no guarantee of when new clothing will be available. You would operate with the realization that you must make careful choices as to what to keep or discard, understanding that this new, smaller wardrobe may have to last a while. Clothing that is worn out, torn, faded, threadbare, or otherwise close to its expiration will likely be thrown out first, while you’ll probably hold on to newer or better items. After your effort, you would have fewer items of clothing, but you would also have a wardrobe that is, overall, in better condition. In the same way, autophagy looks discriminately through the system for cells that are more useful to the body when burned as fuel than left as living cells, thus prioritizing those that are degenerate or unhealthy to be consumed. After a length of time in this process, you will have fewer degenerate and nutrient-leeching cells; you will have lost weight; and you will find that scrutiny of the remaining cells shows them to be in generally better condition.

Autophagy relieves inflammation, restores the immune system, contributes to insulin balance, and prevents and fights chronic illness. Not only does this process have beneficial detox properties, but this continual rejuvenation of cellular health alters gene expression, restoring health and delaying or even reversing the aging process.

EDENS SALT OF THE EARTH

Use Edens Salt of the Earth daily in place of regular table salt to add robust flavor to foods and drinks for the whole family. Edens Salt of the Earth is a blend of two premium, untreated, solar-dried sea salts which deliver critical trace elements.

The first hearty sea salt comes from the cool, blue, unpolluted waters of the Australian Sea using the oldest method of obtaining salt: solar evaporation. Sea water is transferred through a series of evaporation ponds, while the hot, dry climate and gentle breezes hasten the evaporation process leaving behind only sparkling white salt crystals, containing valuable trace elements (not found in regular table salt).

The second premium salt is pink Alaea Hawaiian sea salt. Over the centuries, this gourmet, solar-dried sea salt has been traditionally mixed with health-promoting, pink Alaea clay from the Hawaiian islands, giving the salt a slightly pink color, naturally dense in trace elements. It is known as a sacred health salt by the ancient Hawaiians.

We do not use flowing or “anti-clumping” agents commonly added to regular table salt such as aluminum hydroxide, refined sugar, stearic acid, sodium ferrocyanide, calcium phosphate and other undesirable additives.

Since ancient times, salt has been revered as a precious mineral – once traded ounce per ounce for gold. Salt has played an important role throughout history and was even used as currency in Roman times.

EDENS FERMENTED BEETS

Edens Fermented Beets provides a 100% fermented, organic whole beet root powder that delivers a potent, bioavailable source of naturally occurring dietary nitrates. As we age, we become less efficient in the production and conversion of nitrates to nitric oxide and thus, our nitric oxide levels naturally decline.

Nitric oxide has been widely reported to play a critical role in supporting a healthy cardiovascular system as well as promoting energy, maintaining heart health, supporting blood circulation, and promoting healthy blood pressure already within the normal range. Nitric oxide is produced by the inner lining of the blood vessels called the endothelium and acts as a messenger molecule to promote healthy vasodilation and constriction to support oxygen levels in the blood.

Fermented beets are recognized by science as one of the healthiest vegetables on the planet and help promote healthy gut microbiota and metabolic activity.

EDENS BRAIN POWER

• Memory, higher thinking, learning and attention support
• Promotes sleep and mood
• Promotes brain derived neurotrophic factor (BDNF)

This advanced brain support formula is the culmination of an emerging class of patent pending botanical compounds scientifically formulated to target cerebral performance-boosting mental focus, attention, working memory, recall and recognition. Exciting new research demonstrates these ingredients may significantly promote Brain-Derived Neurotrophic Factors (BDNF) levels, clinically supporting the cognitive functions specific to the ability to learn, manage information, focus and react. BDNF is a member of the neurotrophin family of growth factors within the hippocampus, cortex and basal forebrain – areas vital to learning memory and higher thinking.

Edens Brain Power is a new genre of world-class, full spectrum botanical ingredients combined together in one formula to deliver the cognitive results you have been waiting for. Leading the list of these clinically reviewed ingredients includes the well-researched, all-natural spearmint leaf, patented as Neumentix™, coupled with an extract of whole fruit from the Coffea arabica plant, patented as NeuroFactor™. This masterpiece is then anchored by a naturally fermented Choline L-Bitartrate (not the synthetic DL-tartaric acid form) and Organic Rosemary Leaf (noted from ancient times to be associated with “remembrance”).

Never before has there been such an impressive lineup of all-natural ingredients.

EDENS METHYL PRO

• Supports healthy methylation, neurological, cardiovascular and emotional health
• Contains choline, which supports synthesis of a key neurotransmitter, supports cell membrane health as well cholesterol and fat metabolism
• Contains fully activated methyl donors
• Contains 5-methyltetrahydrofolate, B12 as methylcobalamin, choline bitartrate and B6 as pyridoxal-5-phosphate
• Is quality tested for identity, purity, strength, and composition

Edens Methyl Pro delivers the most dynamic support in methyl group supplementation for human nutrition today. Phyto-Methylate is a rich source of biologically available methyl donors and cofactors, important for advanced cellular functions such as DNA methylation, homocysteine synthesis and protein synthesis. Methylation is the biochemical process of the transfer of one carbon atom and three hydrogen atoms, CH3 – a methyl group, from one substance to another. Supporting healthy methylation is vital to promoting healthy genetic expression and cellular functions. When sufficient methyl groups are available, it has a positive effect regulating many biochemical reactions throughout the body, including cardiovascular, neurological, reproductive and detoxification systems.

EDENS VISION

• Powerful eye, macula, and vision support formula
• Natural sources of zeaxanthin and lutein. Powerful carotenoids stored in the macula may promote the density and integrity of the macular pigment
• Features researched eye support nutrients: natural-source lutein (from marigold flowers) at 10 mg/cap and natural-source zeaxanthin (from marigold flowers) at 2 mg/cap
• Quality tested for identity, purity, composition, and strength where applicable

Vision is one of your most precious gifts in life, promote the health of your eyes today with the most comprehensive antioxidant protection ever conceived. Lutein and Zeaxanthin are the two key carotenoid pigments stored in the macula and may promote the integrity and density of the macular pigment through their antioxidant properties. Increased intake of these carotenoids maintain healthy photoreceptor function in the macula as well as supporting the health of the retina. The combination of Lutein and Zeaxanthin promote full retinal health, photoreceptor health, and overall support for the macula. In addition to the science-backed foundation of Zeaxanthin and Lutein, this proprietary nutraceutical formula also features 350mg of the botanical powerhouse, Eye Integrity Support Blend. Together, they supply a broad range of biocompatible botanical agents which offer a complex phytochemical profile for additional nutritional support.

EDENS LEAN

- Supports healthy body weight
- Can assist with blood sugar
- Helps with maintaining lean muscle
- Can provide good, clean energy

Our Green Coffee Bean is standardized to contain a full 200 mg of chlorogenic acid per 2 capsules (one serving). Chlorogenic acid is a naturally occurring component of the green coffee bean, which has antioxidant-like properties. Exciting new research shows the beneficial effects of chlorogenic acid on body composition and metabolism. Green Coffee Bean targets the body's metabolic pathways to support healthy glucose response.

Next this formula includes the thermogenic ingredient, Citrus Aurantium extract, a patented extract called Advantra Z®. Clinical studies show that the natural-source ingredient, Advantra Z®, promotes thermogenesis and thus, supports healthy, safe weight management as well as helping to sustain the ratio of lean muscle to total body mass. Other studies show that it helps promote fat breakdown. This should not be confused with synthetic forms of synephrine which may have undesirable effects.

EDENS ZINC

Why Zinc Is Vitally Important For Many Of The Body’s Systems

Vitally important for many of the body’s systems
Essential nutrient for immunity
Responsible for many of the body’s enzymatic processes

To maintain robust whole-body health, a full complement of essential micronutrients is required. Essential micronutrients – including zinc – can be consumed through foods such as nuts, leafy greens, and beans, as well as in supplement form. Micronutrients offer critical support of the cell cycle and support maintenance of healthy muscle and nerve function. Zinc plays an especially important role in these processes and is required for the healthy function of hundreds of enzymes that facilitate metabolic processes in the body.

The immune system protects the body against pathogens and potentially damages foreign bodies. When immune dysfunction occurs due to a zinc deficiency, restoring healthy levels of zinc can help support and improve healthy cell function. This micronutrient supports both innate and adaptive immunity. To distinguish between cells that are part of the body’s own healthy tissue and from those that are threats against the immune system, immune cells communicate with one another. For this communication to be successful, the immune cells must have healthy receptors. Ligands, which bind to the outside of the receptor and allow it to be activated, are critical to this process. Zinc interacts with many ligands to support this cell signaling, an important component to healthy immune system function.

Zinc is a critical micronutrient, but the type of zinc in supplements can influence the impact on the body. Many zinc supplements on the market are formulated with zinc oxide or zinc carbonate, which are poorly absorbed and nearly insoluble. In contrast, Liquid Zinc Assay is made with zinc sulfate heptahydrate, a hydrated form of zinc sulfate, that is water soluble. This highly absorbable form of zinc is designed to provide healthy zinc supplementation.

EDENS D
- Supports the immune system
- Provides vital nutrition for happiness and mood
- Essential support for bone and heart health

Vitamin D is one of the most essential nutrients for the human body because of its role affecting a multitude of systems. Edens D3 serum offers 1,000 IU per serving of natural-source Vitamin D3 as a fat-soluble liquid in a base of extra virgin olive oil. D3 is the preferred form of vitamin D (not vitamin D2) because it is better metabolized by the body. D3 Serum is also without those chemical tagalongs such as magnesium stearate (a questionable excipient) or other chemical no-no’s.

Why Do You Need Vitamin B Is Explained By Experts At Edens Essentials

Why The Need For Vitamin C?
EDENS ESSENTIALS PREMIUM BROAD SPECTRUM CBD EXTRACTS

CBD is a powerful plant extract that has been used for wellness for thousands of years. Our CBD is derived from a specific strain of plant containing one of many cannabinoids that have a variety of effects on our body’s endocannabinoid system. In fact, we actually have receptors and compounds in our bodies that interact with these naturally occurring compounds.

Not all natural extracts are created equally, and most certainly not all CBD is the same. At Edens Essentials, we believe that if you want to create the best products available, excellence must be a priority at every stage. With this as a guidepost, we can partner with the right people and companies to achieve a high standard of business. To further our mission of creating the world’s best CBD products, we choose our partners very carefully. After extensive due-diligence, Edens Essentials decided to partner with the broker of the largest grower, manufacturer and distributor of plant-derived phytocannabinoids in the U.S. This partner makes the raw compounds we use in our products.

EDENS MUSHROOMS
- Offers wide ranging immune support from mushrooms which are fermented to unlock the full potential of such nutrients as beta glucans.
- Their fermentation process means that this product supports digestion and microflora with prebiotic fiber.
- Polysaccharides, which are what’s known as powerful immunomodulators, help nourish and strengthen the body’s immune system.

Edens Mushrooms Blend features six different types of organically grown, premier quality fermented mushrooms in their full-spectrum state. This blend is ideal for maximum bioavailability, digestion and absorption. Current research shows that the human immune system can be given excellent support by using a mixture of polysaccharides from several proven immunomodulating mushrooms. The pre-digested, fermented organic mushrooms in this product offer a vast array of naturally occurring vitamins, minerals and immunomodulating polysaccharides.

SKU: Shrooms 7.4 Oz $29.71

EDENS FERMENTED TURMERIC
- Is fermented to unlock the full potential of this powerful herb.
- Supports a healthy inflammatory response as well as liver and cardiovascular function.
- Has been shown to assist the body’s maintenance of proper blood sugar levels.
- Maintains healthy digestion.

Edens Fermented Turmeric is a revolutionary, highly absorbable probiotic-fermented organic turmeric rhizome and organic fermented ginger powder in their full spectrum state, cultivated with our partners signature probiotic-fermented delivery system. This provides maximum bioavailability, digestion and absorption.

For centuries, turmeric has been the quintessential herb choice for promoting liver health, maintaining healthy digestion, supporting a healthy inflammatory response and cardiovascular health. Turmeric naturally has a high concentration of active compounds known as curcuminoids. Curcuminoids have poor water solubility and poor permeability, which may result in low absorption rates in the gut and can also limit its systemic availability. By fermenting both organic turmeric and ginger with our unique probiotic culture, this process is able to predigest the herbs’ naturally occurring compounds to deliver the full spectrum of these highly desirable phytocomponents at their full activity and in their most bioavailable forms.

EDENS HEART

• Multi-nutrient formula provides cardiovascular support
• Supports cellular energy production
• Naturally fermented CoQ-10. Fat soluble in its most bioavailable form
• Supports cardiovascular health
• PhytoChemical Profile Verified (PCPV)
• Tested for identity, purity, strength and composition

Edens Heart is a targeted nutraceutical formula that promotes vital cardiovascular health. This product features premier quality coenzyme Q-10 (50 mg/cap) which is derived from a natural fermentation process (not synthetic CoQ-10). This form of CoQ-10 is fat-soluble and is identical to the CoQ-10 that is naturally produced by cells in the body. Live-source, “trans” isomer CoQ-10 is preferred to synthetic, “cis” isomer CoQ-10 in long term use. CoQ-10 is an essential nutrient that is a vital component of cellular energy production. CoQ-10 is an important part of the mitochondrial electron transport system and supplies cellular energy support to all cells of the body. CoQ-10 especially supports the heart muscle and other bodily tissues that have high energy needs. Edens Heart also features two key nutraceutical blends, CardioPlex and Cardio Essentials, which offer a broad range of biocompatible botanical agents with a complex phytochemical profile for additional nutritional support.

SKU: Heart 60 Capsules $29.95

EDENS PROTECTION

• Contains Astaxanthin, a powerful carotenoid antioxidant, helps neutralize free radicals
• Supports cardiovascular, brain, eye and skin health
• Is an algae-based Astaxanthin
• Quality tested for identity, purity, composition, and strength

Astaxanthin will actually accumulate right in the membrane of the cell and the mitochondria where it can provide key antioxidant support for the cell and its components. Astaxanthin has the highly beneficial and unique property that it can quench free radicals by accepting or donating electrons without itself being destroyed or becoming a pro-oxidant.

Astaxanthin delivers a wide range of benefits: it supports the health of the cardiovascular system, the eyes and skin and is able to cross the blood-brain barrier to provide further support from oxidative stress.

This comprehensive formula also includes Asta-Active Blend, a botanical support blend composed of high value herbal agents that offer a complex phytonutrient profile for added nutritional support.

A Note To Consider:
Mary Magdalene is viewed as a repentant prostitute, even though there is ZERO evidence of this in the Word or elsewhere.

It’s widely assumed she’s the woman caught in the act of adultery reported in John 8:1–11, or the woman washing Jesus’ feet in Luke 7:37 or John 12. In fact, neither the woman from John 8 nor Luke 7 were ever named, and the “Mary” of John 12 was “Mary of Bethany,” not “Mary of Magdala” (which is what “Mary Magdalene” means; it’s not her last name). Folks in the Bible are referenced by whom they’re related to (“son of,” “daughter of,” etc.), not by the city they come from, unless they are prominent and respected patrons of that area, so “Mary of Magdala” was likely a highly esteemed patroness or business woman. Luke 8:3 says she was one of the women who “ministered unto [Christ] from their substance.” The word “substance” here is hyparchonton, meaning “funds.” If Mary Magdalene was a prostitute earning money from a forbidden bed, we can be assured that Christ wouldn’t allow that tainted money to sponsor His ministry.

Let it be known, once and for all, that Mary Magdalene was not a prostitute. That accusation was introduced in 1591 by Pope Gregory the Great, who falsely used her tomb ointments as proof of a promiscuous former life, and she was unfairly deemed “prostitute” ever since. (For more info, read The Handmaidens Conspiracy by Donna Howell.)

Women were not allowed to be legal witnesses at that time, but Christ—who could have appeared anywhere and to anyone in His first appearance after His Resurrection—chose her to be the first person to hear He had risen and to witness it to the others...

Today, He’s choosing YOU! Go, ye, to the ends of the earth, and tell the Good News boldly!
